Greetings, Fibi Users.

Fibi will be unavailable this weekend, from 5pm Friday, December 20th, through Monday, December 23rd, 8am.

The down-time is necessary to bring you a major upgrade: Fibi 5.0. This iteration of Fibi delivers many of the wish-list items requested by JHU, thanks to requests made by all of you through our website enhancement request form, Fibi Bits sessions, general help-desk topics and the dedication of the Fibi Functional Council in discussing and testing Fibi enhancements. Thank you for being such an engaged user group.

Some of the items to look forward to:

- Service requests can be copied, recalled and deactivated
- Lists of service requests have a badge to show those on which user is a “watcher”
- Set a default unit for your Fibi Dashboard
- One single budget save button
- Pop-ups for adding Key Personnel and other things
- Pop-ups are now draggable – so you can see what’s underneath
- Route Log has a graphic representation of where a proposal is at any given time through the approval process

Many other enhancements have been included in this release. We appreciate your patience as we implement the upgrade this weekend.

Support materials are available at our WEBSITE, and are being updated to 5.0 information.
